How to Grow Green Onions in Water

Cut the onions a little less than an inch above the roots. Place the bulbs roots down in a glass jar with enough water to cover the roots.

Place the jar on a sunny windowsill and change water every day!
The roots will grow longer and the tops will sprout new leaves.

At this point you can cut the tops off to cook and start the process all over again!

You can keep them in the glass or transplant them into a pot.
